Docudesk customers and testers,

It has been a fun couple of days for us here at Docudesk. While the original intent for this program was for our beta testers, we are glad to have been able to extend this to some of our other customers. We've received a lot of incredible feedback and will continue working to improve DocQ to meet more of your needs. Many of you have already shared your excitement on the PDF editing, forms processing, and publishing capabilities and I hope as you familiarize yourselves with DocQ you will find even more ways to streamline your daily PDF work.

If you have any questions or comments, please let us know. In case you missed the prior emails, our DocQ offer will expire today at 5pm central.

Have a great weekend!
